June 10-12

The Difficult Airway Course: Emergency Chicago, Illinois

This course will provide up-to-date information as well as hands-on experience to help participants improve the management of airway emergencies. The course will offer sessions that focus on such topics as pediatric airways, trauma, medical emergencies, and difficult or failed airways. Health care professionals, including emergency physicians, critical care specialists, intensivists, hospitalists, family physicians, physician assistants, paramedics, flight nurses, and respiratory therapists are encouraged to attend. On completion of the course, participants will have a clearer framework of difficult airway management in an emergency situation, gain the ability to identify the problematic airway, obtain a rapid and systematic approach to the treatment of such dilemmas, and become familiar with the devices and techniques needed for treatment. The course offers up to 21.75 Category 1 CME Credits. For more information, call (503) 635-4761, fax (404) 795-0711, e-mail registrations@theairwaysite.com, or visit the Web site (<http://www.theairwaysite.com>).

August 8-12

New Developments in the Treatment of PTSD and Complex PTSD Cape Cod, Massachusetts

This symposium will examine state-of-the-art treatment for patients with PTSD, complex PTSD, and comorbid psychiatric disorders. The presenter, Dr. Donald Meichenbaum, PhD, will discuss his work with returning soldiers with traumatic brain injuries. Psychologists, social workers, physicians, nurses, counselors, therapists, physician assistants, and educators are encouraged to attend. Those in attendance will be educated on the proper way to conduct evidence-based, trauma-focused, cognitive-behavior therapy. The symposium will focus heavily on how to conduct integrated treatments with patients with comorbid psychiatric disorders that will reduce the likelihood of relapse. The symposium offers up to 15 Category 1 CME Credits and 15 nursing contact hours from the ANCC. For more information, call (413) 499-1489 ext. 1, fax (413) 499-6584, e-mail learn@neei.org, or visit the Web site (<http://www.neei.org>).
