Metabolic and Endocrine Disease Summit (MEDS)

July 26-28 • Orlando, Florida

August 9-11 • San Diego, California

The Metabolic and Endocrine Disease Summit (MEDS) is designed to provide advanced education to nurse practitioners (NPs) and physician assistants (PAs) in primary care and internal medicine on the diagnosis and treatment of many adult metabolic and endocrine diseases, including diabetes, adrenal diseases, thyroid disorders, and osteoporosis. The MEDS faculty is comprised of NPs and PAs, all specialists in the field. MEDS will educate NPs and PAs on the diagnosis and treatment of metabolic and endocrine diseases, enhance their competence and confidence in treating the growing number of patients affected by these diseases, and empower NPs and PAs to fill the void created by the national shortage of endocrinologists. MEDS offers an interactive, learning-focused, case-based format providing an outstanding opportunity to query the expert panel, share best practices, and find solutions to the most difficult clinical challenges. Discounts are available for clinicians in the federal health care system. The summit offers up to 18.25 CE/CME Credits. To register or for more information, please contact Kim Kirchner at (502) 574-9023, fax: 502-589-3602, e-mail: kkirchner@hqtrs.com, or visit www.MEDSummit.qhc.com.
