

Combining Superficial Glycolic Acid (α-Hydroxy Acid) Peels With Cosmetic Procedures to Achieve Optimal Results for Skin

Supported by a restricted educational grant from The NeoStrata Company, Inc.

3 Introduction

Combining Superficial Glycolic Acid (α-Hydroxy Acid) Peels With Cosmetic Procedures to Achieve Optimal Results for Skin

Marta I. Rendon, MD

4 Enhancing Cosmetic Outcomes by Combining Superficial Glycolic Acid (α-Hydroxy Acid) Peels With Nonablative Lasers, Intense Pulsed Light, and Trichloroacetic Acid Peels

Cheryl Efron, MD

M. Elizabeth Briden, MD

Barbara A. Green, RPh

9 The Use of Fillers and Botulinum Toxin Type A in Combination With Superficial Glycolic Acid (α-Hydroxy Acid) Peels: Optimizing Injection Therapy With the Skin-Smoothing Properties of Peels

Marta I. Rendon, MD

Cheryl Efron, MD

Brenda L. Edison

13 Combining Superficial Glycolic Acid (α-Hydroxy Acid) Peels With Microdermabrasion to Maximize Treatment Results and Patient Satisfaction

Elizabeth Briden, MD

Ellen Jacobsen, MD

Colleen Johnson, LE